ABOUT FIRST NATIONS DEVELOPMENT INSTITUTE

First Nations Development Institute (First Nations) is a Native American-led, national, 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization whose mission is to strengthen American Indian economies in support of healthy Native communities. First Nations' mission is: "Through a three-pronged strategy of Educating Grassroots Practitioners, Advocating For Systemic Change and Capitalizing Indian Communities, First Nations is working to restore Native American control and culturally-compatible stewardship of the assets they own - be they land, human potential, cultural heritage, or natural resources - and to establish new assets for ensuring the long-term vitality of Native communities. First Nations is the ONLY Native American-controlled nonprofit dedicated to asset-based, sustainable development. First Nations is committed to building healthy economies in Indian Country based on a strategy that puts Native communities in CONTROL of their assets.

In the field of Native American assets, those associated with natural resources and food production are among the most critical. Native communities need fresh food sources (because majority are located in food deserts) and economic development that is in keeping with Native culture and tradition and available assets. Farming, ranching and land management are long-time traditions in many Native communities and are essential assets affecting Native communities' economic health and Native community members' overall physical health.

First Nations' Nourishing Native Foods and Health program developed the Native Agriculture Food Systems Initiative (otherwise known as NAFSI) which supports tribes and Native communities in building sustainable food systems that improve health and nutrition, strengthen food security, alleviate elder hunger, and increase control over Native agriculture and food systems.

Since 2001, First Nations has become the recognized leader in Native American food systems work. First Nations is the largest private Native grant maker in Indian Country that supports efforts to reclaim control of Native food systems.

PROJECT PARTNER: NAFDPIR

A vital part of this project was partnering with the National Association of Food Distribution Programs on Indian Reservations (NAFDPIR), a national nonprofit organization representing 276 tribes that have citizens participating in the federal Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR), one of the most important feeding programs on reservations. Its membership is comprised of over 100 Indian Tribal Organizations (ITOs as defined by federal law and regulation) and a few State officials and their offices serving the 276 tribes. The FDPIR program, commonly referred to as the commodity food program in Native communities, is an alternative to the SNAP program.
Research indicated the majority of FDPIR households are both low-income homes with elderly and children.

Currently, FDPIR is operated by a group of dedicated program managers at the community level. A large majority of these managers are over the age of 50 and have served in their capacities over as managers for over 10 years. These dedicated managers are largely responsible for education and advocacy efforts to include healthier and traditional food options into the food packages offered under FDPIR and promote dignity, education and community through this very important feeding program.

ABOUT THE FOOD DISTRIBUTION PROGRAM ON INDIAN RESERVATIONS

The Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR) is a federal feeding program whereby local FDPIR programs in or near Native communities provide USDA foods monthly to income eligible households living on Indian reservations, and to American Indian households residing in approved areas near reservations or in Oklahoma. Currently, there are approximately 276 tribes receiving benefits under the FDPIR. Food for distribution is purchased by the USDA and shipped to local programs. Local authorized distributors then store and distribute the food, determine applicant eligibility, and provide some limited nutrition education to recipients. FDPIR is one of the few federal feeding programs that reaches the most vulnerable Indian populations – those in isolated areas and those without access to vehicles to travel to grocery stores.

Cooking Healthier with FDPIR Foods
Food was central to traditional life and was especially enjoyed at feasts and potlatches, where platters boasted salmon, oolichan (a small, oily member of the smelt family), venison, bannock, wild berry jams and much more. For Native people, food is what connected them to family, community and even the afterlife. Tammemagi, Hans. "Traditional Food Makes a Comeback in the Pacific Northwest." Indian Country Today 2013

California tribes had a variety of foods available year round, depending on their environment. Along the coasts of California and north into Canada the environment supplied a plethora of flora and fauna (both land and sea) and supported hundreds of thousands of people. They practiced controlled burning, which allowed for more effective growth of plants and expanded the grazing area for animals. Mihesuah, Devon A. One of the food staples particularly enjoyed by the Ojibwa and Menominee was wild rice, which is not a true rice but rather a cereal grass-Zizania aquatica-which grows in shallow lakes and streams. It ripens in late summer, usually from the middle of August to early September. Native people in the Great Lakes boiled rice and ate it with corn, beans, or squash. Meat, a small amount of grease, or maple sugar was often added for seasoning. As a treat, it was occasionally parched like popcorn. "Wild Rice, Indian Country" Milwaukee Public Museum.

Olive oil or canola oil
Butter
Thyme, dill or basil (if desired)

Kanuchi is considered to be a real delicacy. Hickory nuts are gathered in the fall and allowed to dry for a few weeks before the kanuchi making begins. While it is a straightforward process, it is labor-intensive. Begin by cracking, then shelling the hickory nuts by shaking the pieces through a loosely woven basket, or picking them out by hand. “Kanuchi.” Cherokee Nation. 2017

Bison Burger

2 pounds ground bison (buffalo)
2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh sage
1 ½ teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons black pepper
½ onion, finely chopped
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
Smoky barbecue sauce

PREPARATION

1. Sauté the onions in the olive oil over medium-high heat until translucent. Turn off the heat and let it cool.
2. When the onions are cool enough to touch, use your (clean) hands to gently mix them in with the bison burger meat, and sage, salt, black pepper and barbeque sauce. Do not overwork the meat, it will result in a tough burger. Just gently fold it until the onions, sage, salt and pepper are well mixed in.
3. Form patties with the meat, using about 1/4 to 1/3 of a pound of meat per patty. Here’s a tip on making the patty: if you press a slight indentation in the center of each patty it will help keep the burgers in a nice disk shape when cooking. Otherwise the burger will start to get a little egg-shaped as the edges contract from cooking.
4. Grill or fry the burgers on medium heat, about 6–7 minutes per side, less or more depending on the thickness of the burger and the heat of the pan/grill, or until the internal temperature is 140° For medium rare, or 160°F for well-done you’ll want to cook the burgers until well done.

Don’t press on your burgers while cooking, and keep the flipping to a minimum. Let the burgers rest about 5 minutes before serving.

Basic Blender Tomato Sauce

INGREDIENTS

Lots of tomatoes
Small amount of fresh basil and parsley (or dried)
Large amount of oregano
Garlic cloves, minced
1 or 2 carrots, finely chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
Olive oil

PREPARATION

No real Italians use a recipe to make tomato sauce, so use your imagination for quantities. A few guidelines: do not underestimate the amount of garlic; when in doubt, put in lots. Also, carrots are often the sweetener in Italian tomato sauce.

1. Blend or process the tomatoes to an almost pureed texture.
2. Gradually add herbs, garlic, and carrots.
3. Slowly cook the mixture in a deep skillet (cast iron is best).
4. When sauce has reduced about halfway to the texture you want, add salt and pepper. Add several tablespoons of olive oil before reheating for serving.

2. Add corn kernels; return to simmer. After 2 minutes, remove half the kernels and set them aside.
3. Continue cooking remaining kernels until tender, about 10 minutes.
4. Puree water-corn mixture in a blender, then strain it through a fine-meshed sieve.
5. Heat oil in the same pan. Add onion, sweet pepper, garlic, and rice; sauté 1 minute. Reduce heat to low.
6. Add pureed mixture 1 cup at a time, stirring constantly, until absorbed. Continue to add pureed mixture only until rice is barely tender – you may or may not need to add all of it.
7. Add reserved corn, Parmesan, and salt and pepper to taste, stirring until cheese melts. Serve immediately.

Kosher salt
1 stick unsalted butter
¼ cup chopped fresh herbs (basil, chives, tarragon)
Freshly ground black pepper

Shrimp, Sausage and Squash Casserole

INGREDIENTS

1 tablespoon butter
2 cloves garlic (minced)
2 carrots (chopped)
2 stalks celery (chopped)
2 quarts fresh tomatoes with water (or canned tomatoes)
Pinch of sugar
½ cup fresh basil
Salt and pepper to taste
Parmesan cheese (grated)

PREPARATION

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.
1. Optional seasonings: salt, pepper, Cajun seasoning or hot sauce, Parmesan cheese
   Cook the bacon and sausage together in a large soup pot or other deep pot.
   When fat begins to render, add the onion. Sauté until bacon is slightly crispy, sausage is crumbled and cooked and onion is soft.
2. Add the sliced squash (it may be easiest to add it in several batches) and stir to coat with meat and rendered fat. Turn the heat to high. This is necessary to quickly cook off any moisture the squash releases so that the squash can brown and caramelize, rather than “boil” in its own water. If the sausage and bacon have not rendered enough fat to cook the squash, then add some butter to the pot.
   The squash is done once it is slightly browned and there is no liquid sitting in the pot. By this time, the squash will have reduced by about half.
3. Season with your choice of salt, pepper, Cajun seasoning and/or hot sauce.
4. Remove the pot from the stove and let it cool slightly. Beat the eggs in a small bowl and pour over the squash mixture.
5. Add the raw shrimp and 1-2 handfuls of grated Parmesan cheese (optional).
6. Stir to combine all ingredients then pour into a casserole dish. If you like, top the dish with a few pats of butter or sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.
7. Bake until hot and bubbly, approximately 30 minutes.

(It is important to not cook the shrimp prior to baking the casserole. The shrimp will get overcooked and rubbery if you do.)
Grilled Vegetable Platter

INGREDIENTS

1/4 cup olive oil
2 tablespoons honey
4 teaspoons balsamic vinegar
1 teaspoon dried oregano
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/8 teaspoon pepper

1 medium yellow summer squash (cut into 1/2-inch slices)
1 medium onion (cut into wedges)
1 medium zucchini (cut into 1/2 inch slices)

PREPARATION

1. In a small bowl, whisk the olive oil, honey, vinegar, oregano, garlic powder, pepper, and salt.
2. Place 3 tablespoons marinade in a large resealable plastic bag. Add vegetables; seal bag and turn to coat. 3. Marinate 1 1/2 hours at room temperature. Transfer vegetables to a grilling grid; place grid on grill rack.
4. Grill vegetables, covered, over medium heat 8–12 minutes or until crisp-tender, turning occasionally. Place vegetables on a large serving plate. Drizzle with remaining marinade.
Orzo with Spinach and Tomatoes

INGREDIENTS

1 pound spinach (washed, dried, stems removed)
1 pint tomato-berries (halved) (or regular cherry or plum tomatoes)
2 lemons (zested)
1 ½ cups orzo, cooked to al dente
1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil
24 basil leaves (torn or thinly sliced)
Salt and pepper to taste

PREPARATION

1. Pile spinach leaves in stacks 1 on top of the other. Thinly slice stacks of leaves to make spinach confetti. Pile shredded spinach into the bottom of a medium sized mixing bowl.
2. Add tomato berries.
3. Add the zest of 2 lemons to the bowl (you can save the lemons in the refrigerator to juice for another recipe).
4. Add hot cooked and drained orzo pasta to the mixing bowl. The heat of the pasta will wilt the spinach and warm the tomatoes at the bottom of the bowl and get the juices flowing from veggies. The heat of the pasta will also release the flavor and oils in the lemon zest.
5. Drizzle 1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil over the pasta and toss to combine the veggies and orzo.
6. Add basil and salt and pepper and toss to combine. Taste your orzo to adjust seasonings and serve.
