Fellowship Partners & Background

- Established in 1980, First Nations Development Institute is a Native nonprofit that works to restore Native American control and culturally-compatible stewardship of assets – be they land, human potential, cultural heritage or natural resources – and to establish new assets for ensuring the long-term vitality of Native American communities.
- Established in 1936, the Henry Luce Foundation is a private independent foundation that seeks to enrich public discourse by promoting innovative scholarship, cultivating new leaders, and fostering international understanding.

In 2019, First Nations Development Institute (First Nations) in partnership with the Henry Luce Foundation launched the Luce Indigenous Knowledge Fellowship to honor and support Native knowledge holders and knowledge makers as they work to further Indigenous knowledge creation, dissemination and perpetuation in Indigenous communities.

Advisory Committee

First Nations and the Luce Fellowship are guided by an Indigenous Advisory Committee who provides guidance and recommendations during the fellowship selection process.

Advisory committee members are selected based on their deep experience within Indian Country, Indigenous knowledge fields and expertise, and experience as (or working with) Native knowledge holders and knowledge makers.

Similar to the fellowship cohort, the Advisory Committee also represents a diversity of tribes and knowledge areas.

Fellowship Purpose and Goal

This fellowship is intended to support Native knowledge holders and knowledge makers that embody exceptional creativity, progressive and critical thinking, and the potential to advance their field(s) in ways that will ultimately lead to broad, transformative impacts for Indigenous communities.

More specifically, the fellowship is designed to support the growth, development, knowledge and networks of Native knowledge holders and knowledge makers. This fellowship will provide knowledge producers with the resources to match their existing knowledge, passion and drive to achieve their personal and/or community goals.

This fellowship is open to both emerging and experienced leaders from a wide range of fields including, but not limited to agriculture, food systems, youth leadership development, natural resource management, climate change, economic development, journalism, language and cultural revitalization, traditional and contemporary arts.

Guiding Selection Criteria

KNOWLEDGE

Candidates must be actively engaged in the creation, dissemination and/or perpetuation of Indigenous and/or Western knowledge. They must have a cultural grounding and connectedness to community.

EXPERIENCE

Candidates must be engaged in relevant work that seeks to grow and advance knowledge. They must demonstrate a record of success of working and collaborating with Indigenous people and communities, and preserving and perpetuating Indigenous knowledge systems.

POTENTIAL

Candidates must demonstrate continuing promise in their field of endeavor. They must embody exceptional creativity, progressive and critical thinking, and the potential to significantly move forward their field in ways that will ultimately lead to broad, transformative impacts for Indigenous peoples.

VISION

Candidates must clearly articulate how the fellowship will support or accelerate their work. They must develop a unique plan of action that details their vision for preserving and perpetuating Indigenous knowledge in either reservation and/or urban community settings.

Fellowship Eligibility

Tribally-affiliated with a Native American, Alaska Native or Native Hawaiian community*

Actively engaged in the creation, dissemination and/or perpetuation of knowledge in your field

Experience or expertise within the knowledge field/area you are pursuing

At least 18 years old

U.S. citizen or permanent resident

Applicants may self-apply or individuals may nominate others for the fellowship.

Nominations

Nominators will use the same online application form as those who self-apply.

Nominators should work collaboratively with the individual they are nominating.

Nominees must fill out a Consent Form indicating they have granted permission for the application to be submitted and that they agree to the terms of the fellowship program.

- Consent Form must be attached to the submitted application to be considered complete.
- This form is available on the RFP page and within the online application in the Attachments Tab.

Fellowship Experience

FELLOWSHIP AWARD

The fellowship period is January 1, 2025 to December 31, 2026.

The $75,000 award is released in several installments throughout the fellowship period.

FELLOW WORK

Fellows will work in their respective knowledge fields and communities toward their overarching vision and goals.

COHORT GATHERINGS

Three convenings will be held and designed in collaboration with fellows during the course of the first fellowship year with the intent to create a collaborative cohort of connected Indigenous knowledge holders to advance Indigenous knowledge and knowledge systems for community benefit.

ADDITIONAL SUPPORT

Fellows have access to $5,000 in additional support for resources or professional development to grow their capacity as knowledge holders and knowledge makers.

Use of Fellowship Funds

The goal of this fellowship is to provide flexible funding. It is intended to allow emerging and experienced knowledge holders and knowledge makers to determine their own goals, and decide how their funds are best used to make a positive impact in their communities.

Applicants do not have to design or complete a project to be eligible or selected.

Generally, the fellowship may be used for a wide range of costs including: living expenses, tuition, conference registration, equipment, travel and childcare, etc.

The fellowship itself cannot be redirected to another person or organization. You can still use funds to support use of consultants and honoraria to elders, etc.

The fellowship funds are considered taxable income. Fellowship recipients are responsible for all related taxes resulting from this award.

Application Process

First Nations typically uses a two-stage process when a high volume of applications are anticipated. The Stage 1 form consists of an abbreviated application form. The Stage 2 application allows for a full proposal.

1. Stage 1 Application Form – Due Tuesday, May 7 at 5:00 p.m. MDT

Consists of: 1) Applicant contact information, 2) Two brief essays, and 3) Resume/CV/Biographical Sketch

Additional information required for nominations: Nominator's contact info, Consent Form

2. Stage 2 Application Form – approximately 100 applicants will be invited to submit a full proposal in early July

Consists of: 1) Expansion on Stage 1 essays, 2) Use of funds statement, 3) Acknowledgement of required convenings and potential date conflicts, 4) Three letters of reference, 5) One photo, and 6) Up to three additional supporting documents

25 candidates will be selected from the Stage 2 applicant pool for interviews with the Advisory Committee. After interviews, 10 fellows will be selected for the 2025 fellowship cohort.
